MR. MCCORMICK'S INTERVIEW.

If there is a conservative, level-headed observer in the state, W. S. McCormick, the head of the banking house which bears his name, answers that description. In an interview with The Herald, published yesterday, Mr. McCormick told of the remarkable race Mr. Bryan is making, and said that the trend of sentiment throughout the east is very strongly toward the Democratic candidate. Be it remembered that Mr. McCormick is a lifelong Republican, and that his associations are largely with men who, like himself, are naturally affiliated with the Republican party. His judgment was formed after an extended trip covering important cities all along the way between Salt Lake and New York, so that he has gathered his opinion from no isolated section, and principally from men who have great business and financial interests.

This opinion of the situation has the merit of disinterestedness, and it confirms the reports from all over the country. It comes as near conceding the probability of Bryan's election as could be expected from a Republican; and it certainly affords no comfort to those sanguine partisans here in Utah who have been telling the people that Taft will have an easy victory. The drift is all toward Bryan, and it grows stronger as election day approaches. Not only is that true of the east, but it is also true right here in Utah. Where as it seemed improbable at the beginning of the campaign that Mr. Bryan could carry Utah, the blunders of the Republicans, the widening breach between the Smoot Republicans and the "American" Republicans, the resentment of the independent voters against the manipulations of the Smoot machine—all these factors have helped the Democratic cause so much that the party managers are confident they have more than a fighting chance to give Bryan the electoral vote of the state.

WHO GOT THE $40,000,000?

The New York World recently retained a noted English lawyer who is thoroughly versed in the procedure of the French courts to go to Paris and investigate the sale of the Panama canal to the American government. That the deal was crooked is beyond doubt, but so far the beneficiaries have been able to cover up their tracks with the connivance of the present administration. The English lawyer has rendered a report, according to a cablegram to the World, in which he states that very little of the $40,000,000 went to Frenchmen, but most of it to a syndicate, including Douglas Robinson, brother-in-law of President Roosevelt, and Charles P. Taft, brother of the Republican candidate for president, and who was secretary of war in 1904, at the time when the trick was turned. Continuing his report, the lawyer says:

"I have never known, in my lengthy experience of company matters, any public corporation, much less one of such vast importance, having so completely disappeared and removed all traces of its existence as the new Panama Canal company. This company having purchased the assets of the Compagnie Universelle de Panama (the old or De Lesseps Panama Canal company), brought off the deal with the American government. So thorough has been its obliteration that only the United States government can now give information respecting the new company's transactions and the identity of the individuals who created it to effectuate this deal, and who, and what, and how, and where, wiped it off the face of the earth when the deal was carried through."

Under the terms of the agreement the United States acquired not only the rights of the Panama canal company, but also the plans and archives at Paris, so that every scrap of evidence abroad would be destroyed. The $40,000,000 was paid through the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., but of course nothing could be gleaned from that source as to who pocketed the millions. The records of the transaction should be in possession of the administration at Washington, but with the brother-in-law of the president and the brother of Taft figuring in the conspiracy it is possible that the documents have been destroyed or "lost."

Even if they exist the truth will never be known so long as Roosevelt occupies the presidential chair, and it is equally certain that nothing could be learned from the archives in case of Taft's election.

Mr. Roosevelt has found time to make many accusations against other people during the present campaign, but so far he has not caused the head of the proper department to produce the records that the skirts of the administration may be cleared. Obviously, the only way by which this scandal can be probed is by the election of Mr. Bryan and a Democratic house.

SHARPLES' BOOMERANG.

The tyrannical cream separator man of Pennsylvania has stirred up Republicans as well as Democrats by his threat to close down his plant in case of Bryan's election, thereby throwing 1,000 men out of employment. Marbaugh Brothers, a hardware firm doing an extensive business at Monterey, Ind., received a printed slip containing notice of the intention of the Sharples company, and the following stinging reply was sent:

"Monterey, Ind., Oct. 15, 1908.—Sharples Separator Co., Chester, Pa.—Gentlemen: We received your notice that you intend shutting down your factory after Nov. 3, in case Mr. Bryan is elected. We feel from our Republican standpoint so certain and sure that Mr. Bryan will be elected that we would advise your company to close down immediately, as we will at least make an effort to let the Democratic business hardware men know that your company is very unfair, and that you do not deserve the trade coming from Democratic business men. We assure you that this matter will have full attention at the Business Men's hardware convention, and we consider it an insult to the American voters who reserve the right to vote according to their political convictions. Yours respectfully, 'MARBAUGH BROS.'"

There are five of the Marbaugh brothers, and all of them are Republicans. This year, however, they will all vote the Democratic ticket, one of them being quoted as saying, "The people must rule, not the trusts."

From all over the country comes news of like import. Business men as well as those who toil with their hands are tired of Republican rule, and have joined forces to sweep the trust-fed party out of power.

ARE THE PEOPLE OF UTAH READY TO BREAK THEIR CHAINS?

WALL STREET "BUSINESS."
There has been so much said and written about Wall street's traps for the unwary that the gamblers themselves have taken alarm. That the laws of the state of New York are violated many times every minute of the day while the stock exchange is in session is notorious, yet there are no prosecutions even when the facts are brought to light when some rascal gets in over his head and a crash results. Governor Hughes has spent two years in warfare upon the race track bookies, but he has given no sign that he even disapproves of the different degrees of larceny which the Wall street broker calls "business."

The Wall Street Journal is afraid that "demagogues" will make a serious impression upon public opinion, and advances the claim that only 10 per cent of the "business" is robbery. Like the Republican party in the matter of the tariff, it would have the friends of Wall street do the reforming. After quoting Paul Morton of Santa Fe repute fame; the same Paul Morton who was convicted and then granted immunity by order of the president, who recognizes the legitimate character of the stock exchange, the Journal says:

"Let us by sane methods remove the 10 per cent of evil, but let us not destroy the 90 per cent of good in order to get rid of the 10 per cent that represents abuse."

That is a ladylike way of putting it. Let us tell the thieves that they must not steal any more instead of prosecuting them for the crimes already committed. Let us make a pretense of purging ourselves before the people rise in their wrath and put on the clamps. Let us "take such reasonable measures as seem adapted to do away or reduce such unscrupulous gambling as exists."

If the Wall Street Journal or any of the alleged 90 per cent of honest men engaged in "business" on the stock exchange should cause warrants to be issued for the 10 per cent who habitually violate the law, some confidence might be placed in their professions. It is greatly to be feared, however, that a large proportion of the 90 per cent occasionally, if not quite often, step aside from the paths of virtue and rectitude and trim the suckers with as much neatness and dispatch as the case-hardened criminals who are said to constitute only 10 per cent of the whole.

Wall street is very much against Mr. Bryan in the present campaign, and the question of Governor Hughes as to the crooks would seem to apply with peculiar force.

more of the stolen Archibald letters in New York Saturday night, said to be the most interesting of the entire lot. There will be some anxiety on the part of Archibald's correspondents until the ordeal is over.

Taft stands a chance of a place on the supreme bench until the fourth of March. There may be a vacancy, by death or otherwise, before the Sum Total of Human Wisdom goes out of office.

The season for wearing heavyweight garments seems to have arrived somewhat prematurely, probably as a hint to the Republican brethren that there's a hard winter ahead.

The New York Central Railroad company threatens a reduction of wages if Bryan is elected, and an increase of 10 per cent in case of his defeat. Been rebating again?

The steel trust can force its workmen to march in Republican parades, but they cannot make them vote for Taft. Watch the result in Youngstown, O.

A Bryan Republican club, 600 strong, has been formed in one of the Philadelphia election districts. They'll be lucky if they get their votes counted.
